And finally:

For St Patrick's Day, a choral treat from Dublin – from memory, with drum accompaniment, just like ChoirWorks next month! This modern form of Mo Ghille Mear (My Gallant Hero) moves from its original political commentary about the failure of the 1745 Jacobite rising to commemorate instead a modern departed hero, the composer Seán Ó Riada who set up an Irish-language choir in County Cork in the 1960s before his early death in 1971.

See you, I hope, tomorrow,
